

Muthurajawela Bird Watching S r i L a n k a

Muthurajawela wetland tour provides an exciting birdwatching experience during your stay in Colombo or Negombo. There are many varieties of flora and fauna that are interdependent in this coastal ecosystem. The name Muthurajawela has been derived from Sinhalese language which the majority of Sri Lankans use to communicate. The meaning can be translated in to English simply as "Swamp of Royal Treasure". Treasures of kings in olden days are believed to be buried in that area. Muthurajawela Marsh is situated towards the southern part of Negombo.

07:00 - You will be picked up from your hotel in Colombo or Negombo by TukTuk and driven to Muthurajawela wetland.

08:00 - After crossing some wonderful roadside attractions, you will arrive at Muthurajawela.

08:45 - Proceed with bird watching tour by boat. Extending over 6,000 acres and over 29,000, and rumored to provide home to over 40 species of migratory and 85 indigenous bird species. Mangrove forests that line the footpath are great places to observe birds as well as baby crocodiles and fiddler crabs.

10:00 - You will be taken back to your hotel by TukTuk.

10:30 - You will be dropped off at your hotel in Colombo or Negombo..

RATES

Cost: In US Dollars

Pax Count Rate	01 Pax	02 Pax	03 Pax	04 Pax	05 Pax	06 Pax
Cost per person	45.00	40.00	35.00	30.00	25.00	20.00

WHAT YOU GET....

- Pickup and drop-off by TukTuk.
- Cost of the boat.
- Light refreshments.
- Local guide.
- All taxes, fees and handling charges.
- All parking and highway tickets.
- All current taxes.

WHAT YOU DON'T GET....

- Any others expenses which are not mentioned on Price Includes section.
- Gratuities (recommended).

